POOR GIRLS! THEY CAN'T SIT DOWN

Couldn't Tell Why Until After Strange Men Had Departed

Members of the sheriff's office were again called into action at midnight last night to solve what appeared to be a mystery case.

A telephone call came from Ogden canyon above Huntsville appealing for aid in the search for two young women, who, during the afternoon had obtained saddle horses and ridden far into the hills. At midnight they had not appeared and as they were visitors and not used to the hills and saddle mounts, grave fears were held for their safety.

Deputy sheriffs rushed to the canyon and put in two hours' solid search without success. The mother of the girls was nearly frantic. It appeared as if something terrible must have happened.

Promptly at 3:30 o'clock this morning the young women appeared, the officers say. They were leading the horses. The officers anxiously awaited the girls to speak.

"Oh, dear, oh dear," said one, "we had an awful experience. We rode and rode and rode until at last we got so tired we had to dismount. When we were ready to start back we mounted the horses but found we couldn't ride."

"Why not?" asked the breathless mother.

Please send the strange men away and I'll tell you," blushed the maid. The deputies went away from there.

"Now sit down and I'll fix you a nice hot supper," said the mother as she began bustling about.

"I'll take mine from the mantel," chorused the girls.

ENGINEER KILLED BY O. S. L. TRAIN

Second Tragic Death in the Blasdel Family Within Three Weeks

The second tragic death in less than three weeks in the Blasdel family, occurred last night in the local railroad yards when George Blasdel, engineer, aged 55, was run over and killed by an Oregon Short Line train from the north.

Gladys Blasdel, only daughter of the family, committed suicide July 2 while under a nervous strain.

Blasdel was returning to his home from the room house last night and was crossing the tracks of the local yards when the accident happened. A freight train in the yards obstructed the view of the incoming passenger train.

Oregon Short Line officials from Salt Lake were in Ogden today investigating the accident. Blasdel is survived by his wife and three sons.

Arsenal Railroad Bids to Be Closed Tomorrow

Bids for the Ogden Arsenal railroad which will be constructed at Sunset, will close at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning in the office of the construction manager in the Colonel Hudson building, according to an announcement made by government officials today. The bids will be opened at 12 o'clock and the three lowest bids forwarded to Washington where action will be taken by the federal government. Ten miles of track including spurs to the Bamberger Electric lines will be included in the construction.

Plans for the 53 buildings to be constructed at the arsenal are expected to arrive from the east during the first part of the coming week. Bids will be asked on the buildings with the arrival of the plans.

Material for the railroad is arriving daily and work will be started about August 1, it is announced.

CALIFORNIA RICE CARGOES ARE HELD UP AT HAVANA

HAVANA, July 19.—Havana bankers and a committee representing the California Rice association, conferred today on the serious credit situation resulting from alleged failure of certain Cuban importers to accept rice shipments valued at more than twenty million dollars now held up in harbor here, which it is claimed were shipped under contract.

No statement was given out by the conferees, but the bankers are reported to have demanded that merchants protect their paper and have intimated that the island's credit might be seriously involved as American exporters are becoming dubious of the good faith of certain Cuban importers.

SLEEPING SICKNESS. BALTIMORE, Md., July 19.—The second death from sleeping sickness in Annapolis within the last week was reported to the state board of health today. The victim was Earl Gibson Weber, 13 years old, who succumbed after two weeks' illness.

COATLESS CLUB GOES FULL BLAST; MAYOR IN FAVOR

Ogden is to have its "coatless club." There will be no meetings to decide the issue and no conservative will be given the floor to oppose the move and all those who desire to join are just to haul off their warm coverings and appear in their shirts.

Hundreds have been charter members of the club for several days and have grinned when they passed the perspiring citizens wrapped up in heavy coats to be in style although it hot. Today is the day for action and all men are asked to appear "coatless."

This morning Mayor Frank Francis was asked whether he thought a man should sweeter in style of face the world in a shirt. He jumped to his feet, doffed his coat and vest and announced so all could hear, "I am in favor."

MUST SHOW CAUSE WHY THEY FAILED TO ANNOUNCE PEACE

WASHINGTON, July 20.—Chief Justice Taft today in the district supreme court, issued a rule today requiring Bainbridge Colby, secretary of state, and Henry J. Bryan, editor of the state department, to show cause next Monday why they should not be compelled to promulgate as law the peace resolution with Germany, passed at the last session of congress and vetoed by President Wilson.

The order of the court is based on a petition for mandamus filed last Saturday by Henry S. Cegarty, Chicago lawyer, who sued as a taxpayer. He contended that the president had no authority to veto a joint resolution of congress and that the resolution became a law upon its passage by the two houses of congress.

Al Jolson Here On Way to New York

Al Jolson, the actor, was an Ogden visitor today bound for New York City from Los Angeles. Jolson is traveling east over the Lincoln highway and reports that roads in Nevada are in awful condition, especially west of Bryce canyon in southern Utah.

The comedian is accompanied by George Price, youthful stage star, his chauffeur and a valet. The machine in which they are traveling is a late model of American workmanship and has every modern convenience. The trip to Ogden was made in four days according to Jolson.

The star will appear in his initial 1920 fall revue at the Winter Garden, New York, September 1, it was announced.

The destruction of the Spanish armada was almost the precise moment when English literature took first place in the world.

BONES OF MAN FOUND AT MILL

Workmen Digging Trench Uncover Part of Human Skeleton

Growsome reminder of a former inhabitant were uncovered at the Globe Grain and Milling company when workmen in digging a pit for the installation of a gas tank unearthed a jaw-bone, a cranial bone, and two arm bones of a human being.

A laborer at the mill, who was shoveling a hole, struck the first portion of the skeleton, a jaw-bone, at the depth of about five feet. Further excavation uncovered a portion of a skull, arm bones and several ribs.

Detectives W. A. Jones and Robert Chambers, accompanied by Dr. H. W. Nelson, investigated the find. Dr. Nelson, after examining the bones, said that he could not determine whether or not they were of an Indian or a white man. They were of an old man, he stated, the teeth being considerably worn. The body has apparently been buried for 40 or 50 years, he stated.

The bones are now at the Globe Milling plant.
